MACKENZIE TAYLOR & FRIENDS FEATURING THE PHONE BOOK LIVE!

The GRV. 17th August to 23rd August 2009. 18:40.

A juxtaposition of incongruities.

Mackenzie Taylor, star of No Straightjacket Required, will host a not so late, late night show at this year's Fringe.

With newcomers to the Festival, established favourites and a healthy dose of music and variety, this family friendly show is eminently affordable as part of the Five Pound Fringe. As a taster, Tanyalee Davis is coming to Edinburgh especially to appear; Patrick Monahan, Nick Wiltey and Eric the Submariner are already booked.

And if that isn't enough, the cult favourite The Phone Book Live! will return to The Edinburgh Festival Fringe in 2009 as a feature of Mackenzie Taylor and Friends. The Phone Book Live! has attracted stars from around the world over the years to read the most challenging of scripts... The Phone Book.

The format is simple. A short Q&A session in which the star of the night can explain the importance of the phone book in his or her life, the performance of the Phone Book and signing of the script. And the beauty of this small piece of true Fringe creativity is that the proceeds go the charity MIND.

Stars from around the world have already risen to the challenge: Paul Provenza, Roy Hattersley, Maureen Lipman, Les Dennis, Tony Robinson, The Magnets and The Scottish Falsetto Sock Puppets to name but a few. And as the notoriety of the show grows, so will the Hall of Fame.

This is a Fringe special not to be missed.
